Cabinet Revolt Indicated in British Scandal

By ANTHONY WHITE

LONDON (AP) — A brewing cabinet revolt increased pressure on Prime Minister Harold Macmillan today to resign because of the Profumo scandal.

Health Minister Enoch Powell was reported pushing for a walk-out of cabinet members to force Macmillan to give way for a "new look" at the top that would have a better chance of restoring the Conservatives' shattered moral image.

Sir Edward Boyle, the education minister, also was reported on the brink of quitting. Home Secretary Henry Brooke and Housing Minister Sir Keith Joseph were reported gravely disturbed at Macmillan's handling of the affair which has rocked the nation.

Earlier reports said all four ministers were threatening to resign. But Joseph told the London Times and the Daily Mail he was not planning to quit, and Brooke told the mail he did not intend to resign.

Macmillan's aides denied any mass revolt was shaping up. They insisted that the prime minister had received general—though not unanimous—support at a cabinet meeting Wednesday which studied his handling of the affair involving former War Minister John Profumo.

Macmillan apparently succeeded in convincing his ministers in the two-hour session that no breach of state security resulted from Profumo's affair with party girl Christine Keeler at the time an assistant Soviet naval attaché also was sharing her bed.

But Powell was said to have taken the position that enough had been known about Profumo's 1961 affair with Miss Keeler to boot.

Pipeline Crossing Red at Fulton

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Public Service Commission has given two utilities authority to build lines across rivers.

The Natural Gas Pipe Line Co. of America was authorized to build an underwater pipeline under the Red River near Fulton.

Arkansas Electric Cooperative Corp. was given authority to build two aerial transmission lines over the Arkansas River near Ozark.

Weir Wants New Trial in Farm Case

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—James Weir of Dermott has petitioned federal District Court at Little Rock for a trial to determine if land owned by him and sold at public auction to satisfy crop liens, is still his.

Nearly 1,000 acres of Weir's land sold April 17, 1962, wound up in the name of eight residents of Lake Providence, La. The land was sold to satisfy a judgment after Weir refused to pay federal penalties for overplanting rice and wheat allotments.

A condition of the sale was that he was to vacate the land within one year. At the end of the year, the eight persons petitioned federal court to get possession of the land.

Weir maintains that he was not given a chance to say what land should be sold and that the eight purchasers conspired to suppress bidding, resulting in sale of the land for $61,639 when it should have brought $250,000.

Attorneys for the government contend Weir was given a chance to designate acreage to be sold but refused.

Nashville Peach Area Gets Rain

NASHVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Rainmaker Homer Berry took today off after a hard rain hit this southwest Arkansas peach growing center Wednesday.

Berry returned to his North Little Rock home, but promised to be back in Nashville later today to continue his rainmaking efforts.

He contracted to bring two inches of rain to Howard County's peach orchards by midnight Saturday. Rain varying in amount from 3-4 of an inch to 1 1/2 inches fell in the county Wednesday after Berry had been seeding clouds for two days. No rain had been forecast.

There were indications that the self-styled rainmaker might be drumming up other business. Farmers in Portland, Ark., were trying to contact him today.

Farmers in Nashville said the rain saved early peach blossoms. But more rain is needed to assure full size of the fruit, they said.

Berry promised four showers by Saturday midnight.

Berry, hired to bring what growers termed a $1 million dollar rain to the area to save a crop estimated at 1,750,000 bushels, drove triumphantly into Nashville Wednesday as the first shower broke over the city at 3:20 p.m.

He was followed by crowds everywhere he went with his pickup truck, which is loaded with a brick-lined barrel from which he sends a stream of silver iodide particles into the air.

When the rain broke at 6 p.m. the Peach Station at the south edge of the peach belt had recorded .75 inch. Farmers in the northern part of the belt said they got as much as 1 1/2 inches of rain.

Berry contracted to bring two inches of rain to the area before Saturday midnight.

The Weather Bureau at Little Rock had no official comment on the rain and Berry's presence in the Nashville area, but one employee monitoring a radar set at the station spotted the shower and explained, "Well, Homer's done it again."

Berry is to get $1,500 for his work if the full two inches falls on the area by the deadline.

Youth Strangled Accidentally

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP)—Clyde David Walls, aged 16 months, was dead on arrival at an Arkadelphia hospital Wednesday. Authorities said he apparently strangled after becoming entangled in the rope of a swing.

The accident happened at the home of the boy's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Beatty, of near Bismarck, with whom he was visiting.

The boy was the son of Sgt. and Mrs. Keith Lee Walls of Washington, D.C.

To Ask More for Areas Depressed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy said today he will give Congress "another opportunity to support" a $450-million distressed areas appropriation.

Kennedy, in a statement, called it "tragic" that the House rejected the legislation Wednesday on a 209-204 vote.

"This program must not be allowed to die," he said, "and it is my intention to give the Congress another opportunity to support it."

Kennedy said scores of hard-hit communities in seven states were counting on the appropriation.

He listed the states most affected as Pennsylvania, Michigan, West Virginia, eastern Kentucky, upstate New York, upstate Minnesota and Southern Illinois.

"The people of these and other affected states need more than speeches to help their depressed communities and jobless workers," the President said.

The bill would have authorized $450 million more in grants and loans to encourage creation and expansion of job-making industries in areas of high unemployment.

Similar legislation is pending in the Senate, and Kennedy's legislative leaders would have a second try in the House if the Senate passed its bill.

Negro Man Jailed on Check Charge

Sheriff Jimmie Griffin today said that Willie Harris Jr., 22, year old Negro, has been arrested on charges of forgery and uttering.

Sheriff Griffin said Harris had tried to cash at least two stolen checks and forged several others. The total amount involved was somewhere around $150. Griffin said Harris cashed forged checks at Sumpter's Station, Hardee, Cobb's and Long's and Beaver's Grocery stores.

The Sheriff also said that a couple of Negro youths were in custody after trying to cash a check for $148.50 which they had taken from a rural mail box. The check was made out to Surville McWhorter.

5.9 Million Chicks Started

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Crop Reporting Service announced today that Arkansas producers started 5,915,000 broiler chicks during the week ended June 8. This was one per cent more than the previous week.

Of the placements, 5,075,000 chicks were hatched in Arkansas and 840,000 shipped in. Arkansas reported 224,000 chicks during the week.

W. E. Crain, 86, of Bodcaw, Dies Here Wednesday

William E. Crain, aged 86, of Bodcaw, died Wednesday in a Hope rest home. He was a retired farmer and lifelong resident of Hope, and a member of the Baptist Church.

Survivors include three sons, W. R. of Longview, Texas; Ocie M. of Round Rock, Texas and J. W. Cain of Bradley; three daughters, Mrs. B. H. Taylor and Mrs. U. N. Landis, Lewisville; Mrs. Opal Fabian of Pueblo, Colo.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. Thursday at the Bodcaw Baptist Church by the Rev. Lynn Green, assisted by the Rev. D. O. Silvey. Burial will be in Dunn Cemetery of Stamps.

Thinks Production of Stock Best Bet

BLYTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The most promising area for new farm production wealth in Arkansas is in livestock, W. M. Shepherd of Little Rock, president of the state Chamber of Commerce, told a Blytheville chamber meeting Wednesday night.

Shepherd said Arkansas is a large importer of meat products although its geography is favorable for a livestock feeder state.

Bulletin

BOSTON (AP) — The Coast Guard said today that a report of a British submarine sinking 700 miles east of New York is a "false alarm."

Capt. Kenneth R. Goodwin, officer in charge of Coast Guard search and rescue in the First Coast Guard District, labled the report as false.

Other Coast Guard sources said the report had been received by radio from Albro Lake, N.S.

Moisture Gone in State Delta Region

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Hot dry weather is rapidly depleting soil moisture in the delta region of Arkansas while the rest of the state already is under drought conditions, the Crop Reporting Service, said in its weekly report today.

Moisture was still adequate in the delta except for southeastern counties. Rain is badly needed for early corn, vegetable crops, pastures and for sizing of fruits.

Scattered rains this week have helped in isolated areas, but west Arkansas still needs a general rain to save crops, the service said.

Planting of soybeans was given top priority on many farms during the week. Three-fourths of the acreage has been seeded. Cotton is reported in fair to good condition and the rice crop is making normal progress.

The drought has curtailed the growth of hay and pastures. The reported condition of all hay on June 1 was only 58 per cent of normal. Dry weather is adversely affecting the potato crop, which is forecast at 214,000 hundredweight, up 1,000 hundredweight from last year but down 43 per cent from the 1957-61 average.

Production of spring spinach is estimated at 4,800 tons, 50 per cent more than last year but 34 per cent below the 1957-61 average.

The tomato crop is estimated at 326,000 hundredweight, compared to 290,000 in 1962 and an average of 236,000. A fine crop of first clusters is being marketed but the drought is threatening later clusters.

The corn crop also is in danger. It is forecast at 40,000 hundredweight, compared to 36,000 last year. Acreage in the Van Buren is being irrigated.

Dry weather reduced strawberry production in all but White County. The crop is estimated at 13,420,000 pounds, 42 per cent more than the very short 1962 crop but 23 per cent less than the 1957-61 average.

More Showers Predicted for Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More sporadic shower activity was forecast for Arkansas today but the general rain needed to knock out a drought was still in the unpredictable future.

Isolated thundershowers pelted across north Arkansas Tuesday morning and moved into the southwest and south central sections Tuesday afternoon, but many areas remained dry and more rain is needed to replenish soil moisture even in the areas where showers fell.

Maximum temperatures in the 90s were forecast again today with tonight's lows predicted in the 65 to 75 range.

Wednesday's highs ranged from 85 at Harrison to 97 at Texarkana and Wednesday night's lows from 65 at Fayetteville and Little Rock to 71 at Texarkana.

Rainfall reports included two inches or more at Jasper and Bluff City, 34 inch at Camden, 44 at Warren, 21 at El Dorado and 12 at Walnut Ridge.

The Arkansas Parachute Center Sky Diving Club is sponsoring a two day invitational meet starting Saturday. The events include:

Event 1—Flye second delay from 3,000 feet.
Event 2—Ten second delay from 5,500 feet.
Event 4—Accuracy night jump, Saturday only, 10 second delay from 3,500 feet. Trophies will be given to winners of first and second place in each event with an outstanding award for the top individual.

Points will be awarded on the basis of accuracy landing only. The meet will be conducted in accordance with the basic safety rules set forth by the Parachute Club of America.

Approximately 100 invitations have been sent to clubs in 10 states and barring bad weather conditions a large turnout is expected. The first event starts at 8 a. m. Saturday, June 15.

Orders Castro Reds Jailed in Venezuela

By PAUL FINCH

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — President Romulo Betancourt ordered the arrest of Venezuela's estimated 400,000 Communists and pro-Castro extremists Wednesday night following his escape from another assassination attempt.

Betancourt said three Communist terrorists plotted to assassinate him Wednesday with a time bomb at the Roman Catholic archbishop's palace in Ciudad Bolivar, a river port 275 miles south-east of Caracas.

The president told a national radio audience that police nabbed two of the terrorists as they entered the palace with three sticks of dynamite and a timing device. The third plotter got away.

"Society cannot be subject to continued risk to property and life by a group of pyromaniacs and terrorists," Betancourt said in ordering Interior Minister Carlos Andres Perez, to start an immediate, nationwide roundup of members of the already-banned Communist and MIR parties. The MIR, or Movement of the Revolutionary Left, is a pro-Castro revolutionary movement.

The order was the toughest Betancourt has issued against subversives who began moving against him shortly after he took office in 1959. The next election is scheduled for November. The president has banned Communists from the election.

He has survived three previous known plots against his life and two revolts against his government. It is believed there were several other assassination attempts that never were announced.

Betancourt, noting that the government cannot hold anyone without charges for more than 30 days vowed that every Communist will be jailed again as soon as released. Such 30-day periods of detention could go on indefinitely.

The president, a moderate leftist, said he ordered the arrests because the legislature was taking too much time to enact an anti-terrorist emergency measure he proposed last week. The bill specifies 30-year prison terms for terrorists convicted of burning factories, one of their prime targets in a campaign stepped up since the Cuban crisis last fall.

Communist and MIR members in the Senate and Chamber of Deputies have parliamentary immunity to Betancourt's arrest order.

The president, on a tour of the interior, went on the air from the Orinoco River village of San Felix to disclose the plot against him. He said it was thwarted shortly before he arrived for the dedication of the palace at Ciudad Bolivar.

The resolutions committee later drew up a civil rights program containing all the President's suggestions. It added a sixth point urging that "citizens be encouraged to recognize the correlation of responsibility and duty with right and that equality of responsibility be encouraged along with equality of opportunity."

The measure restated Kennedy's recommendations for:

1. Bilingual human relations committees in all cities.
2. Nondiscriminatory hiring of municipal employees.
3. Alteration of local laws to conform with constitutional law.
4. Ordinances to provide equal opportunities in housing, employment, recreation and access to public accommodations.
5. Official efforts to discourage school dropouts which contribute to unemployment of the unskilled and other social and economic problems.

Instead, their voices pealed "My Country 'Tis of Thee, Sweet Land of Liberty."

Funeral arrangements were incomplete for Evers, who left three children—the oldest 10.

The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., speaking at a New York meeting, called the slaying "an inexpressible tragedy and an unspeakable outrage."

Later, King said he will attend the funeral.

Rewards totaling $24,350 were posted for information leading to the arrest and conviction of Evers' slayer.

Robert Cassels, 57, a painter, died Wednesday in a local hospital.

Survivors include two sons, Homer Earl and W. E. Cassels of Salt Lake City, Utah; a daughter, Mrs. Martha Clayton of Salt Lake City; a brother, Henry Cassels and a sister, Mrs. Rosie Sparks, both of Sweetwater, Tex.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at Herndon-Cornelius Chapel by the Rev. Joseph Geno. Burial will be in Macedonia Cemetery.

Transplanting Lung Worked

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Transplanting of a healthy lung to a 58-year-old man has been disclosed by surgeons of the University Medical Center here.

The hospital team said the transplant was made Tuesday and the patient was reported doing well after the three-hour operation.

Surgeons said they replaced a cancerous lung with a healthy lung from an unrelated donor.

Hospital spokesmen said it is too early to know what degree the means being used to suppress the immune response—the body's defense against foreign "invaders"—will prevent rejection of the transplanted lung.

The transplant was tried, surgeons said, after detailed studies in more than 500 experimental animals over a 7-year period.

SHE CREATED HER OWN HELL

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Ever since I married a year ago there's been but one boy in my heart and he's not my husband. I can't stop thinking of him.

"You see, he was my first love. We lived for each other from the time we were kids in high school."

Then two years ago at the Senior Prom, another boy cut in and gave me a real whirl. He sure could dance, was good looking and had a way with him; so before I knew it we were speeding through the June night in his car while the boy friend cooled his heels in the Prom hall.

Instead of calling to apologize next day I dated the new boy that night. There was a full moon and well, you can guess the rest. I married him, but like I said, loving only the other. It's been purgatory ever since.

Last week met my first love on the street and we literally fell into each other's arms. He's married and doesn't love his wife any more than I do my husband. We both agreed this brief encounter must be our last.

But yesterday he came to my home during his lunch hour, said maybe if we just talked a while he could get me out of his mind. We wound up in each other's arms.

I'm ashamed of myself because his wife has a baby and so have I, which makes six instead of four caught in this muddle. Should I go to a psychiatrist and try to grope my way through? —Confused.

Dear Confused: Since, as you say, there are six people involved in your tragic blunder, you should now make every effort to base your next move on clear-headed judgment rather than on hot-headed impulse. Good looks, sweet talk in the moonlight, and agile feet on the dance floor hardly add up to a valid reason for marriage. Emotional impulse is rarely a sound basis for any action, let alone a complicated and demanding relationship.

Your flagrant violation of all the tried and true prerequisites for successful marriage was almost bound to result in the mess you're in. You and your "first love" have behaved in such an immature, selfish way that I'm convinced you both need to do a lot more growing up before you're ready to discharge the responsibilities of marriage and parenthood.

As a starter, get to know yourself—the kind of person you are, your basic values, your likes and dislikes. Also, what do you want for your child?

During this period of evaluation, self-discipline in order not only to give reason a chance to prevail over emotion, but also to play fair with your husband and your friend's wife. Take the first step to maturity by living up to your marriage vows and honoring the contracts which presently bind you. You and your "first love" should definitely stop seeing each other. In your last sentence you use the word "gripe" in describing a possible course of action. Blind groping is exactly what led you into this situation. Now is the time for you to open your eyes and move forward without stumbling into any more pitfalls. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "Ideal Wife."

Dear Helen: My girl friend and I got mixed up with two boys one day after school. A teacher looked out the window and saw us. We didn't do anything bad but it wasn't too good either.

The acting principal called our parents. My stepmother wouldn't give me a chance to explain. She took all my privileges away and won't buy me a dress for graduation.

Now my father says he's going to give me a beating and send me away to school. My stepmother was kids once and no different from us. Why can't they understand?

—Sory

Dear Sory: Yes, you're quite right. Your parents were young once and when they misbehaved, they undoubtedly were also punished. If you become a mother and your child does something that is neither "bad" nor "too good," you'll undoubtedly react just as most parents would.

When the principal telephones home about misconduct, nobody at either end of the line is enjoying the call.

Try to understand your parents' point of view. Convince them that you are truly sorry for whatever you did by demonstrating that you merit the trust and confidence all parents would like to have in their children. Go see your principal and convince him (if you mean it) of your resolve to do right.

Dear Helen: Everywhere I go my 11-year old sister must go too. Mom's orders. The girls I chum with all have sisters but they never tag along as mine does. She has plenty of friends. Why can't she go with them?

My parents are very young and lenient on every point but this one. How can I make them see the injustice of their ruling? —Fourteen Year Old Unknown.

Dear Unknown: I sympathize with you wholeheartedly. The only shadow most people don't mind having with them constantly is their own. Ceaseless surveillance by Secret Service agents is annoying even to the President of the United States. The activities and interests of a 14-year-old are not necessarily those that would appeal to an 11-year-old.

The gap between those particular years is a large one which shouldn't be too difficult for your parents to remember if they are young and understanding. It's not fair either to your sister or to you to insist on your always being together. Show them my answer to your letter.

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

him out of the government long before he confessed lying to the House of Commons to cover his guilt.

One Conservative member of Parliament, Donald Johnson, issued an open call to Macmillan to resign before the government faces debate on the Profumo affair in the House of Commons Monday.

The Conservatives' 100-seat majority in Commons insures that it will survive any motion of censure the Labor party may bring. And Conservatives rebelling against Macmillan's leadership are not likely to vote him out since it would force the party into a national election it almost certainly would lose.

But many Conservatives feel that only a new leader with a fresh, untainted record can improve the party's chances in the general election which must be held by October 1964.

The prime minister also was buffeted by a rising storm of moral indignation from both the pulpit and press.

Pine Bluff's Public Parks Integrated

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Pine Bluff's Oakland Park was successfully desegregated by a group of Negroes Wednesday, despite the beating of a Negro youth by several white teen-agers.

The decision to integrate the park was announced Wednesday by the city's Park Commission, following a Tuesday night executive session.

The commission said it had decided a year ago to accept desegregation if it was attempted. Jessie Wilson, 17, of Pine Bluff, a member of the Pine Bluff Movement, was attacked at the park by about 12 white youths. He was taken to a Pine Bluff hospital for treatment and released.

The fight broke up as a white man with two policemen charged into the melee. No arrest was made.

Robert Whitfield, head of the Pine Bluff Movement, said earlier this week demonstrations would be held if facilities weren't integrated.

The Negro group toured the zoo, rode the ferris wheel and bought soft drinks. They made no attempt to integrate the park swimming pool.

The commission had said the pool would be closed if attempts were made to integrate it.

Power Overcharge Case Is Studied

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Circuit Judge J. Mitchell Cockrill took under advisement Wednesday a case involving charges by the City of North Little Rock that Arkansas Power and Light Company overcharged the city $669,934 for power during 1957-58-59.

Cockrill heard seven witnesses in the case Wednesday.

The power company has filed a counterclaim, alleging the city is in arrears for its 1960 power bill.

Principal issue in the case is whether a rate increase of two mills per kilowatt hour approved by the state Public Service Commission for AP&L in 1956 applies to the city.

Water values, tourist attraction, employment and income from the timber industry, hunting and fishing, are the major public benefits from the Ouachita National Forest.

Cleopatra Reaction Is Varied

NEW YORK (AP)—"Cleopatra," $40 million worth of monumental movie, barged onto Broadway Wednesday night and was greeted mostly with critical acclaim.

The premiere at the Rivoli Theater was a celebrity-packed affair, featuring the added glitter of two of the film's stars: Rex ("Caesar") Harrison and Roddy ("Octavius") McDowall.

Elizabeth Taylor ("Cleopatra") and Richard Burton ("Antony"), whose real-life romance has added to the oceans of ballyhoo accompanying a picture four years in the making, remained in London.

Outside the theater, about 5,000 persons, barely controlled by mounted and foot policemen, surged against wooden barriers and perched on lamp posts and trash baskets to see such personalities as Helen Hayes, Eddie Albert, Paul Anka, Beatrice Lillie, Red Buttons and Joan Fontaine.

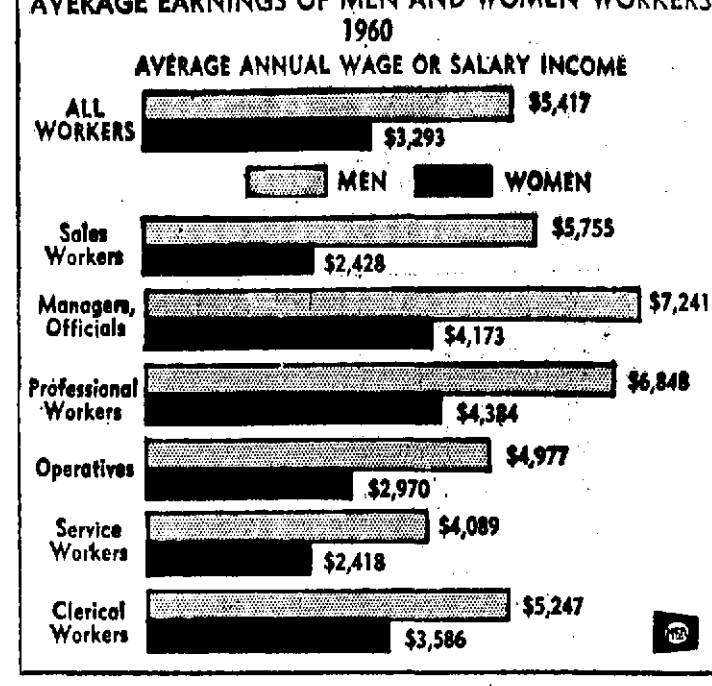

Bosley Crowther of the New York Times called the four-hour and three-minute film "a surpassing entertainment, one of the great epic films of our day...fraught with imperishable romance, adventure and tragedy."

Wanda Hale of the New York Daily News termed it a film "well worth waiting for," applauding the acting of all the principals and supporting players and saluting producer Joseph Mankiewicz as investing "the Caesar-Cleopatra affair with delicious humor."

A "thumbs-down" for the extravaganza came from Judith Crist of the New York Herald Tribune, who wrote that the movie "is at best a major disappointment, at worst an extravagant exercise in tedium."

Justin Gilbert of the New York Mirror termed the film "A spectacular, sensuous spectacle," and was critical of Miss Taylor's direction.

Rose Pelwick of the New York Journal-American said "tremen-

WAGE DISPARITY—Differences in earnings between men workers and women doing the same work under similar conditions are illustrated in this Newschart. The figures are for 1960, the data from the U. S. Department of Labor. In 1961 median income of males was $5,655 and $3,351 for females. Starting salaries for women college graduates are $50 to $100 less than for men. In industry, women machine operators and assemblers received an average $1.70 an hour as compared to $2 for men. A National Office Management survey in 1961 showed a third of nearly 2,000 employers had a double pay standard for men and women employees.

Homemaker Elect

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Jean Selser of Decatur (Benton County) was elected president of the Arkansas Future Homemakers of America at a state meeting in Russellville. Dale Speck of Holly Grove, Judy Gordon of Rector and Linda Spence of Bauxite were named vice presidents.

Favors Hike in Gasoline Tax

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas Highway Commission Chairman Wayne Hampton told a civic club Wednesday he favors a one-cent increase in the gasoline tax to provide more highway funds.

"I'm not trying to promote an added tax," Hampton said, "but if we're even going to get out of the woods in our highway program, we're going to have to have more revenues."

More money is needed, he said, to build roads for industries, bridges over major streams and rivers and for bypasses and expressways in cities.

Only $12,700,000 of $60 million in gasoline taxes and license fees that went into the highway fund in the 1961-62 fiscal year was spent on construction of new roads, he said.

As Composer Roy Harris Still Going

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—At 65, composer Roy Harris shows no sign of slowing down his double career.

He continues his teaching of a new generation of composers and the creating of a body of works that has enriched the musical literature of America.

Harris was born in Lincoln County, Okla., 65 years ago last Feb. 12. The date and the location are significant, since his music has been Lincolnshire in its individualism and its use of the American idiom.

His family moved to Covina, Calif., when he was 6. He first displayed his brilliance as a composer at UCLA, where he returned three years ago to conduct graduate seminars and other classes for young musicians.

He conducted the West Coast premiere of his Fifth Symphony at the current Los Angeles International Music Festival at UCLA. Between rehearsals he talked about the plight of the serious artist and about his birthday.

"Many wonderful things happened," said the affable, broad-faced composer. "The Philadelphia Orchestra commissioned my Ninth Symphony, which I have already finished. And the friends of Albert Schweitzer commissioned a large work for chorus and orchestra to celebrate Dr. Schweitzer's 90th birthday."

Although considered one of the country's successful composers, Harris admitted he cannot earn a living from composition alone. "Not with five children," said Harris, whose offspring range from 7 to 19 years. "Perhaps I

Senators Rap Kennedy's Stand

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sixteen southern Senators, including Sens. J. William Fulbright and John L. McClellan, D-Ark., assailed President Kennedy's stand on civil rights Wednesday.

One senator termed administration action and statements in the racial crisis "appeasement of civil rights demonstrators."

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., said southern senators should unite solidly to "resist any further extension of federal power over private property for political ends."

Miss Gloria Brooks of El Dorado, bride-elect of Royce Weisenberger, Jr., was honored with an afternoon tea June 12 at the Hope Country Club with Mrs. Charles Reed of Ft. Worth, Tex., and Mrs. Royce Weisenberger, co-hostesses.

Mrs. Elmer Brown greeted the guests at the door, and Mrs. F. C. Crow and Mrs. Roy Allison introduced them to the receiving line. There they met the honored guest, her mother, Mrs. Reuben Brooks of El Dorado, and the hostesses. Miss Brooks was lovely in a yellow summer frock and she pinned a white bridal corsage at her shoulder.

Carrying out the yellow and white color scheme used for the entertainment, the mantle was decorated with an arrangement of yellow gladioli. Mrs. Sam Andrews guided the guests to the table where the guest book was placed. Yellow rosebuds graced this place presided over alternately by Mrs. Bill Hairr and Mrs. Charles Friley, both of Fayetteville.

Mrs. Horace Fuller invited the guests to the serving table, centered with yellow carnations, Majestic daisies and yellow tapers in a silver epergne. Serving the cake squares were Mrs. Curtis Lynn and Mrs. Charles W. Tuel, both of Little Rock, while Mrs. Garland Medders and Mrs. James McLarty poured the punch.

Dispensing hospitality were Mrs. McDowell Turner, who headed the house party, and Misses Tena Pilkinton, Susan

Cities Magic in Modern Ministry

By BEN LAIME

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—There's magic in the Protestant ministry today—and it's helping the clerics' work.

During a recent convention of the Society of American Magicians, several Protestant clergymen explained how they are using their hobby of magic in religion.

The Rev. Robert C. Anderson, a captain in the Chaplain Corps of the U.S. Army stationed at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., said magic and religion are more compatible than most people realize.

He illustrated his point by "transforming" three separate silk handkerchiefs into one large, handsome scarf imprinted with a butterfly.

"This illusion," said Chaplain Anderson, "has helped me show individuals how they could change aimless, fragmented lives into lives of personal worth and of service to the community."

Maj. Wayne Lockhart of the Salvation Army, another of the magi-ministers, changed a black silk handkerchief into white in his magic red velvet bag.

"This is a simple, yet very instructive way to show a person how he can change his life for the good," Maj. Lockhart said. "This is a particularly popular trick in my prison visiting."

Greeters Meet

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Some 400 hotel executives, owners and front-office employees are attending the 53rd convention of the Hotel Greeters of America at Little Rock. The convention began Sunday and lasts through Thursday.

Cross Burned at Texarkana Jr. College

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP)—

About 200 youths burned a cross on the campus of newly integrated Texarkana Junior College Wednesday night and then staged an anti-integrated march in the downtown area.

They dispersed when they were met on main street by Texarkana Chief of Police Jack O'Brien, who urged them to break up the demonstration.

Earlier in the day the college, which had been under federal court order to integrate since 1956, quietly enrolled two Negro women. There were no incidents on the campus during the day.

As the students marched into the downtown area, fire trucks were moved to street intersections. O'Brien had a large police dog on a leash as he met the youths. Only two other policemen were in the immediate area.

"You are more intelligent than to do something like this," O'Brien told the crowd.

Newsman said some of the youths were from the college but others appeared to be of high school age. Some were identified as not attending school.

Although the students marched to State Line Avenue, the demonstration was entirely in Texas. Part of the city lies in Arkansas.

When integration was ordered in 1956, a large group of whites prevented several Negro students from enrolling.

Rice Council Meet

STUTTGART, Ark. (AP)—The Arkansas Rice Council will meet at Stuttgart Thursday and hear reports on global consumption of American-grown rice. The council supplies much of the funds used by the Export Development Association in its promotion of U.S. export markets.

Many Cities, Counties Are Helped

By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two programs designed to help areas of unemployment have provided Arkansas counties and cities with a total of $9,130,000 in federal loans and grants for more than 120 different projects.

The aid has been made under the AMA Redevelopment Act, and the Accelerated Public Works Program.

Rep. Wright Patman, D - Tex., recently placed in the Congressional Record a complete list of projects thus far approved under the two programs.

The listing showed that there have been 93 accelerated projects approved for Arkansas involving $6,344,000, and 31 by the area Redevelopment Administration for a total of $2,786,000.

These 124 projects are located in 42 Arkansas counties.

The ARA program involves principally financial assistance to aid communities in attracting new industries. Such aids and grants—totaling $2,300,000 in the case of Arkansas—includes loans to industries and to communities desiring to build facilities to attract and serve these industries.

The Accelerated Public Works Program (APW) generally involves matching grants to communities for municipal projects.

Patman's list showed that where 93 APW projects, involving $6,344,000, had been approved as of May 31, another 103 applications involving projects that would cost $12,977,000 are pending.

Congress voted $400 million for the program last year and recently voted another $450 million to continue it.

Patman's list shows that in addition to the 10 financial assistance projects approved for Arkansas under the ARA program, another 14, involving loans or grants of $4,807,000 are pending.

Arkansas counties or areas for which projects have been approved under the two programs, together with the federal funds involved (all places are counties unless otherwise designated):

Sees Passage of Nuclear Test Treaty

Editor's Note—As U.S. disarmament director, William C. Foster would have a major role in selling any nuclear test ban treaty to the Senate. Does he think Senate approval of such a treaty is likely? Does he believe the Russians really want to end nuclear testing? These and other questions are answered in this exclusive interview.

By STANLEY MEISLER

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. Disarmament Director William C. Foster predicts a safe passage in the Senate for any nuclear test ban treaty signed by the Soviet Union and the West.

He does not agree with those who predict that a treaty would provoke the most bruising battle in the Senate since the proposal to join the League of Nations after World War I. Nor does he believe it would suffer the same dismal fate.

"It would be tough," Foster said in an interview, "but we could get a treaty through the Senate."

Foster, 66, director of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, will not take part in the U.S.-British-Soviet nuclear test ban treaty negotiations in Moscow next month. From his office here, he will back up the efforts of the American negotiators.

He would have a major role in selling any treaty to the Senate. Without the approval of a two-thirds majority, the treaty, like the League of Nations proposal almost 50 years ago, would die, unratified.

Despite his optimism, Foster said he had no illusions about the significance of a nuclear test ban treaty.

Foster also saw an overemphasis in the current concern over the number of inspections in a treaty. The Russians have said they would allow no more than three inspections of possible underground tests. The Americans have said they would settle for no less than seven.

"The number of inspections is $73,000; Marion, $170,000; Miller area $235,000; Montgomery, $182,000; Newton, $28,000; Perry, $253,000; Phillips, $899,000; Polk, $212,000; Pope, $40,000; Scott, $6,000; Searey, $3,000; Sevier, $427,000; Sharp, $85,000; Stone, $56,000; Van Buren, $516,000; White, $318,000; Woodruff, $105,000.

Faubus May Keep Rock Around

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Tuesday the state may keep William P. Rock who has resigned as executive director of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission on the payroll as a consultant.

Rock became director of the AIDC in 1955 when it was organized in 1955. His resignation becomes effective June 30. He said he would enter business in Little Rock as a consultant.

Faubus said several businessmen had asked his approval of keeping Rock on the state payroll. He also said there had been some criticism of the idea but did not elaborate.

Rock was traveling in New England seeking industrial prospects for Arkansas.

Faubus said he had discussed the idea with Winthrop Rockefeller, chairman of the AIDC but

Redlegs Beat Behind Hurling of O'Toole

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim O'Toole, Cincinnati's prize southpaw, fired a three-hit 3-0 win over Pittsburgh Wednesday night for his 11th triumph.

It was the 26-year-old left-hander's second shutout in a row and fifth of the season—and it gave Cincinnati a vital boost in the National League race. The Reds are in fifth place, but only 2½ games off the pace.

The Los Angeles Dodgers regained a slender lead with a 9-1 rout of Houston that put them .002 points ahead of San Francisco and St. Louis. The Giants beat fourth-place Chicago 3-1 on Willie McCovey's two homers and Bob Bolin's strong pitching, while Philadelphia knocked the Cardinals out of first, 6-2.

Lew Burdette, Milwaukee's expendable right-hander, threw a three-hitter and Hank Aaron slugged in five runs in the Braves' 9-0 romp against the New York Mets.

In the American League, the New York Yankees shoved one percentage point in front by nipping Baltimore 3-2 in 10 innings. The Chicago White Sox slipped to second in a split with Los Angeles, beating the Angels 3-1 and losing 5-0. Kansas City trounced Minnesota 12-4 before being whipped by the Twins 8-1. Cleveland's rampaging Indians downed Detroit 12-6, and Boston trimmed Washington 5-3.

O'Toole, showing a current record of 11-3 and a earned run average of 2.07 did not allow a walk. Frank Robinson keyed the Reds' decisive two-run fourth inning by doubling in Vada Pinson, stealing third and scoring on a force play.

Maury Wills continued his spectacular batting for the Dodgers, rapping off three singles and a double against the Colts for 16 hits in his last 23 tries. Lefty Johnny Podres was tagged for 10 hits but struck out nine and did not allow a walk.

McCovey whacked his homers off Bob Buhl, with one on in the first inning and none on in the third. Bolin, ace reliever turned starter, limited the Cubs to four hits and struck out 14.

The Phils had three-run innings off Cardinals starter Ron Taylor and veteran reliever Bobby Shantz.

Burdette, 36-year-old Brave right-hander who is on the trading block, gave the punchless Mets only three singles for his sixth victory. Aaron warmed up with

Mediocrity Could Spoil Those Mets

SPORTLIGHT
By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Will mediocrity spoil the Mets?

Have New York's baseball darlings—once such hapless, hopeless, lovable losers—improved to the point where they now are merely losers?

Are the Mets becoming a bore? In their maiden season in the National League last year, the Mets set unbelievably high standards for futility. They found new ways to lose. They lost with an imitable flair. Time and again they staged those incredible, implausible—and almost inevitably useless—rallies.

Nobody took it all very seriously, and it was fun.

But this season they've taken the fun out of losing. Through trades and purchases and promotions and demotions the Mets are a better club, mechanically. Where once they threw away games with remarkable inventiveness, they now are losing routinely by being out-hit, outpitched and outfielded.

A large number of boosters have been swarming to the Polo Grounds to see the Mets in the flesh. Local pundits have tabbed these fans the "New Breed."

The newest idol of the New Breed is Jim Piersall, the center fielder recently acquired from Washington. Piersall is a talented player but is best known as one of baseball's zanier citizens.

However, Piersall's antics are no longer a novelty. His very unpredictability is predictable.

Perhaps that sums up the Mets. They've become predictable. And who needs predictable losers?

Yankees Back on Top by Beating Orioles

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Los Angeles' Bob Turley gave his former club, the New York Yankees, a boost into the American League's top spot Wednesday night with a one-hit 5-0 victory over the White Sox.

That gave the Angels a split of a two-night doubleheader—Chicago's John Buzhardt hurled a three-hit 3-1 first game triumph—and dropped the White Sox .001 points behind New York. The Yankees reached the top rung with a 3-2, 10-inning triumph over sagging Baltimore.

Meanwhile, Cleveland's Indians rolled to their sixth consecutive victory with a costly 12-6 triumph over Detroit in which they lost outstanding rookie outfielder Vic Davillio for at least four weeks with a broken right forearm.

In other games, Boston used the home run punch to down Washington 5-3 and Kansas City and Minnesota played ricochet in splitting a doubleheader. The A's pounded 17 hits for a 12-4 victory, then the Twins lashed 13 for an 8-1 triumph.

The Los Angeles Dodgers regained the National League lead by belting Houston 9-1, San Francisco clipped Chicago's Cubs 3-1, Philadelphia knocked off St. Louis 6-2, Cincinnati shut out Pittsburgh 3-0 and Milwaukee thumped the New York Mets 9-0.

Turley posted the 100th victory of his 12-year major league career. He struck out seven and walked four in bringing his record to 2-5. Leon Wagner helped him by going 4-for-4, including his 15th home run.

Buzhardt, 7-2, fell behind 1-0 in the second inning of the opener but went on to retire the Angels in order until the eighth. By then the White Sox had pulled ahead.

The Yankees tied it in the eighth on Tom Tresh's double and Joe Pepitone's single, then won in the 10th when Brooks Robinson opened the door by mugging Bobby Richardson's grounder. Richardson moved around to score the clincher on a sacrifice, a walk and Roger Maris' single. It was the Orioles' fifth straight loss and their 11th in 13 games.

Davillio was hit by a Hank Aguirre pitch in the first inning and was replaced by Jerry Kindall, who started the Indians' winning three-run rally in the seventh inning with a double. A walk, two passed balls and singles by Joe Adcock and Willie Kirkland did the rest of the damage. The Tigers had built an early lead on homers by Al Kaline, Jake Wood and Dick McAuliffe.

The Red Sox scored all their runs on a three-run homer by Ed Bressoud, and solo shots by Carl Yastrzemski and Dick Stuart while Billy Monbouquette, 8-4, scattered eight Senators' hits. Jim King homered for Washington.

Palmer Plans Return to Tourney Trail

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

RYE, N.Y. (AP)—A thoroughly rested, relaxed but determined Arnold Palmer sets out Thursday to reestablish his shaky position as the No. 1 man in professional golf.

"I feel great," the all-time leading money winner from Latrobe, Pa., said today as he faced up to his first competition in more than a month. "Nothing really was the matter with my game. I was just mentally and physically tired."

"I am eager to play again and I think that is a good sign. This was the first real vacation I have had in three years."

In the hunderbird, a four-day, 72-hole prelude to next week's National Open at Brookline, Mass., the tough, muscled son of a Pennsylvania pro should learn whether he has finally snapped the back of a nagging slump.

The 113-man field lists all of his big name rivals for world golf honors, including 23-year-old Jack Nicklaus. South Africa's Gary Player and 50-year-old Ben Hogan, onetime undisputed king of the game in a fresh comeback gesture.

So the tournament this week and the Open next week at The Country Club in Brookline offer an extra special challenge for the larrupers from Latrobe.

Nicklaus checked in Tuesday from Brookline, where he practiced over the Open course and created a mild controversy by suggesting that the PGA tour be cut to 30 tournaments.

"That's a selfish attitude," commented Doug Ford, former PGA and Masters champion. "Nicklaus is for cutting the tour because he has it made. He's not thinking about the other guys. He's not thinking about putting back into golf some of the things he's taken out."

Palmer and Nicklaus are top favorites for the $25,000 first prize in the tournament over the West-

No Crisis Yet But Crops Are in Danger

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arkansas entered its critical conditions.

There is no crisis yet for crops, forests and pastures, but if there is no general rain this week, conditions will be critical.

That is the report from county agents, the Weather Bureau, Crop Reporting Service and other agencies taking the pulse of the growing drought.

Northeast Arkansas is in the best shape moisture-wise, but even there rainfall is needed this week.

Hot, dry weather has depleted short soil moisture supplies in the south and west parts of the state and rainfall this week is necessary to insure crop growth without further damage. Pastures, hay and corn have suffered the most so far, but they will be saved by rain.

Indications were that showers today and Tuesday would help in isolated areas. But there were prospects for more extensive showers later this week, the Weather Bureau said.

So far this year Arkansas has had 11.96 inches of rain—13.94 inches below normal. The figures are an average compiled by the Weather Bureau in Little Rock.

The state Forestry Commission said the drought index is 152. The normal drought index for June is between four and five, according to the commission's scale.

Record temperatures over the weekend coupled with brisk, dry wind made the situation worse.

Saturday 14 forest fires were reported to have burned over 70 acres, Sunday 14 fires were reported on 240 acres. Three fires near Malvern burned over 104 acres and one near Dierks burned over 55 acres.

A good rain two weeks ago supplied enough moisture to last crops in most parts of the state through this week. Cotton was reported to have good sub-soil moisture. The delta area got the heaviest rain two weeks ago.

The Crop Reporting Service said cotton and soybeans need moisture this week. The tomato crop in south Arkansas has been good so far but the drought will hurt late clusters.

"There is no general alarm yet," said Roy Bass, statistician for the Crop Reporting Service. "But we are approaching the point where things could become critical if hot weather continues."

"We're not overly pessimistic," Bass said. "We're not writing anything off yet." He said weather has been favorable for cotton cultivation and rice is reported in good condition. Vegetable crops would be hurt first. But rain also is needed for sizing of fruit.

Raps Money Angle in Pro Golf

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP)—Gary Player, one of the top favorites in the $100,000 Thunderbird Classic starting today, says too much importance is put on the dollar mark and not enough on the scorecard in bigtime golf.

"It's getting so players are judged not by how many tournaments they win or how well they play, but how much official money they collect," the articulate Little South African said. "It is an unfair and inaccurate gauge."

"The only true gauge of a player's ability is the scoring average. The man who plays consistently the best golf under a variety of conditions on a variety of courses should be ranked No. 1."

Player, one of the game's current Big Three which also includes Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, tees off in the first round of the Thunderbird tournament over the 6,550-yard, par-70, Westchester Country Club course. He is paired with Palmer.

Nicklaus, the 23-year-old Masters and U.S. Open champion, goes off later with Bob Rosburg and Paul Runyan.

They are the big names in the 138-man field, which includes a trio of red-hot menaces in Julius Boros, winner of the Buick Open last weekend; Tony Lema, who has been dogging the footsteps of the big three, and steady Dow Finsterwald, playing at the peak of his game. Ben Hogan, now 50, is added dressing.

Nicklaus currently is leading the money list with earnings of $57,615, followed by Lema, $49,006, Boros, $43,325, and Player, $39,067.

SEAT UNITS TRAVEL ALONG OVERHEAD rail to meet bodies and chassis at floor level.

CHASSIS WITH TRANSMISSION AND engine (arrow) installed just before body is lowered in place.

AND HERE ARE THE FINISHED AUTOMOBILES. They come off the assembly line at the rate of 33 an hour.

Thirty-one Hope business men spent Wednesday touring General Motors' vast Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac assembly plant at Arlington, Texas, the guests of Jim James, local Buick, Oldsmobile, Pontiac dealer, and GM.

The delegation went to Dallas aboard a Continental Trailways chartered bus, leaving Hope at 6 a.m. and arriving at the GM plant, between Dallas and Fort Worth, at 11. They returned home at 9:30.

The local men saw a multi-million-dollar plant turning out automobiles at the rate of 33 an hour and capable of producing 84 an hour. Currently the plant has shifted Buick production elsewhere in General Motors' empire, but Pontiacs, Oldsmobiles, and Chevrolets are rolling off the assembly lines.

General Motors' Arlington plant employs 3,000 persons; the 1962 payroll was $13,750,000, and for 1963 it is estimated to be 5 million higher.

The plant covers one and a half million square feet — 30 acres under roof, and all of it air-conditioned.

The Hope travelers were welcomed by the plant manager, H. T. Brian; Harry L. Blair, GM's regional public relations manager; C. E. Burkins, traveling representative who is a frequent Hope visitor; and the top men of the Arlington staff.

THE FOOT MISERIES! BILL ELLIS SOAKS his aching feet aboard the homeward-bound bus after walking miles and miles through GM's vast assembly plant — 30 acres of concrete. Man bandaging Bill's head is Joe Booker.

Cardinals Face Liberal Policy Group

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The struggle among the cardinals in choosing a new Pope will shape the direction of the Roman Catholic Church for years.

The conservatives and those who favor a more liberal policy, when they begin June 19 to elect from among themselves a successor to Pope John XXIII, may hit a stalemate and have to settle on a compromise.

Still, he could be a surprise, one way or the other. Pope John was. He was a compromise and turned out in his short reign of about 4½ years to be the most progressive and adaptable Pope in the 20th century.

That the world liberal can be used to describe some of the cardinals who feel the Church needs changes to adjust to new times is in itself a mark of change.

Only 72 years ago, when Pope Leo XIII wrote his famous encyclical, Rerum Novarum (Of New Things), he denounced liberals in the world by name.

It was a time when part of the liberal tradition was anti-clerical but was particularly associated with European economic thinkers, especially in Britain, who urged free enterprise without government control or interference.

They were the social Darwinians, operating under the philosophy of Herbert Spencer's dog-eat-dog society in which the rich were considered superior and the poor deserved to be poor because they weren't smart enough to get rich.

But it was in that encyclical that Pope Leo urged consideration for workers and suggested labor unions. By the time he wrote it in 1891, already some programs of social welfare for workers had been started, but only on a tiny scale.

Pope John, in his encyclical this year, Pacem in Terris (Peace on Earth) went far beyond Pope Leo's thinking and urged cradle-to-the-grave welfare programs. Nothing showed the changing times better.

Now liberals are no longer associated with the concept of unlimited free enterprise and the word liberal is not identified with anti-clericalism. Some Catholics consider themselves liberal, some conservative.

Liberals today in the economic field, concerned for the general welfare, urge government controls on business. Pope John, unlike Pope Leo, didn't condemn liberals in his encyclical. He didn't mention them.

The most recent visible sign of change in thinking among Church leaders came from Richard Cardinal Cushing, Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston and one of those who will choose the new Pope.

He expressed views in the June 15 issue of America, a Jesuit weekly, which would have seemed impossible 50 years ago.

He suggested removing many of the Church restrictions on marriages between Catholics and non-Catholics, specifically proposing elimination of the religious promises required of the non-Catholic partner.

He predicted that the Church's canon law on marriage would be

Stolen Car Is Found Abandoned

MALVERN, Ark. (AP)—A stolen car, believed to be the one used by two men who disarmed State Trooper Roy Kirkdoffer Sunday night, was found abandoned Tuesday off Highway 270 between Malvern and Hot Springs.

A statewide alert is out for the men, but they have not been found.

The men seized Kirkdoffer's revolver and marched him into a field after he stopped them west of Malvern. Kirkdoffer said Monday his attention was diverted by a truck driver who stopped to complain because the lights of the stopped car were on high beam.

Kirkdoffer said he dived into high weeds and the men fled when a passing motorist shined a spotlight into the field.

"It all happened too fast (for me) to be scared," Kirkdoffer said Monday.

Indonesia Joins Loose Alliance

By CARL ZIMMERMAN

MANILA (AP)—Neutralist Indonesia agreed today to join a loose confederation with strongly pro-Western Malaysia and the Philippines to preserve peace and security in the South Pacific.

The chief threat to this peace and security was seen as Communist China.

The foreign ministers of the three countries, after a conference here, also agreed to ask Secretary-General U Thant of the United Nations to find out whether peoples in the territories scheduled to join Malaysia in the new Federation of Malaysia really changed as an outgrowth of the Ecumenical Council which Pope John had called into session last fall, the first in almost 100 years. It is expected to resume this fall.

Cardinal Cushing said "canon law is the result of pastoral needs" but that the "needs of one time are not the needs of another" and may not be of "much help to a later generation."

He said, "In fact, they can sometimes be a hindrance in the care of souls." He also urged the gradual elimination of the procedure connected with the Church's index of prohibited books.

Pope John wanted closer unity in the Christian world between Catholics and non Catholics, he wanted reforms in the Church. These were his main reasons for calling the Ecumenical Council.

But in the council meeting approval has to come from those taking part in it, not only cardinals but other church leaders from around the world. It is the cardinals alone who elect a Pope.

But Pope John, in the social and political fields, took steps on his own. For instance, by suggesting a world government and opening the door a bit to dealing with the Communist world. Millions of Catholics are behind the Iron Curtain.

The new Pope will either follow down the road paved by Pope John, revert to real conservatism or try to hit some middle ground. But it was the worldwide good will created by Pope John which caused world-wide regret when he died last week.

Canned Barbecue Beans Travel Outside

Fix inside, carry out! Supper on the porch, patio, or under a shady tree makes summertime eating pure pleasure. Fun and relaxation are the goals... children love setting up... mother enjoys preparing favorites.

"Carry out" meals present no problem at all when canned bean products streamline your menus. Beans always have top priority during warm weather—and no wonder. Canned barbecue beans... 3 kinds of beans simmered in peppery barbecue sauce... bring you the tang of the open fire right out of the can. Nothing gathers the clan faster than a zippy skillet of barbecue beans and meatballs. The meatballs—tender and tasty—are full of surprises. Chunks of cheese have melted to golden goodness inside. This delicious meal-in-one dish is ready by the time the table is set.

Add a freshly tossed salad and call all hands on board for transport. Tall, cool glasses of iced tea are inviting... brownies à la mode are lush for dessert.

Beanball Skillet
 1½ pound ground beef
 2 tablespoons minced onion
 1½ teaspoon salt
 Generous dash pepper
 6 ½-inch cubes mild process cheese
 1 can (1 pound) barbecue beans

In bowl, mix beef, onion, salt, and pepper; divide into 6 equal parts. Shape meat around each cube of cheese forming meatballs. In skillet, brown meatballs; add beans. Cover; cook over low heat 15 minutes. Stir now and then. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

CHAPTER XXVIII

Dick asked her if the letters which she wrote for the Webbers had included letters to Dr. Howdershell?

"Yes, sir, he—"

"Would you say that the letter—or letters—you wrote to Dr. Howdershell, would they have been for the purpose of blackmail?"

"Well—I wrote them for the boys—the matter was private—"

Dick glanced at the Judge. He leaned forward. "Mrs. Webber," he said sternly, "this is a hearing in a court of law. We are here to seek, and, if at all possible, determine the truth! Please answer the question."

"Well—" She stroked her knee again, "the letters just asked for certain rights for them—" her voice faded. "And me," she whispered.

"Thank you," Dick folded his sheet of paper, and went back to his chair.

The witness was excused. David Ostentfeld asked Dr. Howdershell again to take the stand. Dick asked Smokey something; he shook his head brusquely and walked quickly to the stand, sat down, not looking at anyone. The judge reminded him that he was still under oath, and he nodded. The strength of the man, his reserve, projected itself into the courtroom.

"All right, Counsellor," said the Judge dryly, "you may proceed."

"Thank you, your Honor." The prosecutor walked to the little rail before Smokey's chair.

"Now, doctor," he said, in a want to join.

The ministers also decided that the Philippine claim to British North Borneo will be respected and entertained when the federation is formed, reliable sources reported.

The union of Malaya, Singapore and British territories in North Borneo, to be known as the Federation of Malaysia, is not the same as the consultative confederation the three countries agreed to form among themselves today. Although the confederation binds none of the countries to any specific policies or actions, officials here are hoping it will lead to some major changes in crisis-ridden Southeast Asia.

"The confederation will mean a linkup of sorts of Indonesia with two anti-Communist countries—Malaya and the Philippines—on the basis of their common racial and cultural heritage."

There has been no clear public indication as to how the three countries can resolve the dispute over the rejected Federation of Malaysia, the question that brought them together in this conference.

There still seems to be a possibility that no compromise will be reached between Malaya, which would lead the federation, and Indonesia and the Philippines, which have opposed it.

Delegates here recommended that Indonesian President Sukarno, Malayan Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman and Philippine President Diosdado Macapagal hold a summit conference here not later than the end of July.

friendly, almost fatherly, fashion. "Earlier in your testimony you mentioned your wife. You spoke of her—I quote—of her 'remarkable disappearance.'"

Smokey looked tired, and he spoke as if he were tired. "I did." David had gone over to his table and picked up a thick file of papers. He now brought this to the bench and gave it to the Judge. "I took it but looked questioningly at the prosecutor."

"Those papers," said David, "are the court records of a hearing which took place in California, in September of 1947."

The Judge laid the file on the top of his desk—or bench. He put on his glasses, opened the folder, and rifled the pages it contained.

"What purpose do you have in presenting this record, Counsellor?" he asked.

"My purpose will reveal itself," the prosecutor smiled patiently.

"Is the purpose pertinent to this hearing?" Dick demanded.

"Since it will establish the character of the defendant, I would say that it is pertinent, Mr. Hinton."

Dick snorted and went back to his chair.

"As I understand it, your Honor, today's hearing is being held to determine if Dr. Howdershell should be charged with manslaughter."

Then the Judge ruled that the file was probably admissible as evidence.

David Ostentfeld had his file of papers opened on the table and arranged to his liking. "Now, the first thing, I believe, is the report that on September tenth, 1947, Mrs. Eve Howdershell, wife of Dr. S. M. K. Howdershell, then residing as man and wife in Southern California, near Los Angeles, had told her sister, and her pastor, that she feared she was going to be killed."

A murmur washed across the courtroom.

David Ostentfeld looked very big and menacing. "Is that correct, doctor?" he asked, sharply.

Smokey's fingers stroked his jaw. "That she said such a thing? Yes, sir. My wife was constitutionally a psychopathic liar."

"Now, doctor!" David protested. "Such a term—I don't think you should use a phrase like that!"

"The term was used," said Smokey, sounding like his usual self. Analytical, interested. "The diagnosis is a matter of medical record, your Honor. A record which could be attained in much the same fashion as Mr. Ostentfeld must have been used to procure the record he has. He could phone to a hospital—I'll give him the name—and ask that a transcript be sent to him."

His lips pressed tightly together.

"What kind of record...?" David began.

"It would be the record of psychological tests and findings made during a hospital examination of—of the woman in question."

"Your wife? And you say she was—"

"A constitutional, psychopathic liar. In line with that situation

she had the typical conviction of persecution and abuse. She typically expressed fears, and told of insults—threats—

Griffin Will Return to Morning Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—After all the sound and fury, Merv Griffin is coming back to NBC in the fall—as host on a new morning game show.

There's a bit of irony in Tuesday's NBC announcement, for Griffin quit an NBC morning game show about a year ago in order to do "The Merv Griffin Show" in the afternoon on the network. Its cancellation three months ago for low ratings caused more anguish and noisy hand-wringing than any other single event of the television season.

Griffin's new show—which his production company will package—is called "Shopping Spree" and will be one of two new shows which will be added to the network's solid three-hour block of games shows starting at 10 a.m.

NBC lost "The Price Is Right" to ABC, starting in the fall. And it will drop, as expected, "Play your Hunch," which has been starring Robert Q. Lewis since Griffin quit the show.

"Shopping Spree" and another word game, "Missing Links" will replace them. It is probable that Robert Q. will move over to "Missing Links" as host. Impending motherhood has raised hob with Carol Burnett's theater and television plans. Carol, now Mrs. Joe Hamilton, expects her first child after the first of the year, so her planned Broadway musical, hand-tailored by Betty Comden and Adolph Green, has been postponed until spring.

This, in turn, has fouled up CBS plans for a Carol Burnett Television series for the 1964-65 season.

Summer's Soda-Sippin' Time

Sipping sodas is a warm-weather delight that's almost as old as summer itself! So wouldn't you like to know about a tasty new one to add to the refreshing pleasure of this great American pastime?

A Florida Sambee is a whiz of a soda, having lovely looks, super flavor and a definite plus, nutritionally speaking. Luscious, fresh-frozen Florida orange juice concentrate is the basis of this scrumptious soda, and its high natural vitamin C content and other nutrients are great for helping restore energy sapped by hot weather and summer's active sports.

Your choice of fresh or frozen mixed fruit and fruit sherbet are added to the reconstituted orange concentrate to make a Sambee. Strawberries, blueberries, raspberries, melon balls, diced peaches or pineapple are delicious in a variety of combinations, and orange, pineapple or lemon sherbet gives a cool touch.

Florida Sambee
 1 can (6 ounces) frozen Florida orange juice concentrate 1½ cups diced fresh or frozen mixed fruit
 ¾ pint orange, pineapple or lemon sherbet

Reconstitute orange juice concentrate according to directions on can. In three tall glasses, add a generous spoonful of diced fruit and fill three quarters full with orange juice. Add a spoonful of sherbet and garnish with remaining fruit. YIELD: 3 servings.

Supersonic Plane Far in Future

AP AP News Analysis
By ROGER LANE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The finish line is a long way ahead in the international race for a commercial air transport that will whiz across the Atlantic Ocean in two or three hours.

The United States or the Soviet Union may put a man on the moon before supersonic airliners start flying.

But at least the United States officially is in the running, put there—somewhat belatedly—by President Kennedy's declaration of American will to go ahead with supersonic air transport development.

The presidential announcement in Colorado came less than 24 hours after Pan American World Airways ordered six of the supersonic planes that France and Great Britain are preparing to produce jointly.

The order caused jubilation in Paris and London where officials viewed it as a strategic boost to their drive to challenge U.S. superiority in the commercial aircraft field.

In turn, word of the Kennedy decision was cheered by plane builders here, and by Trans World Airlines, Pan Am's chief U.S. competitor on overseas routes.

Although the President didn't say so specifically, the U.S. is expected to shoot for a plane that will fly 2,000 miles an hour or faster—mach 3, or more than three times the speed of sound. Costs have been estimated at upwards of 10 billion and Kennedy said, will require government subsidy.

The projected British-French "Concorde" aims at roughly 1,500 miles an hour. The two nations have pooled $500 million for their effort.

Kennedy talked of getting the American model into service by 1969 or before, although some experts believe 1971 or 1972 is closer to probability. "Concorde" deliveries have been promised in 1968. This also has been questioned.

For one thing, the Mach 3 craft would have to be made of steel and titanium, instead of the conventional aluminum deemed suitable for the slower Mach 2, because of frictional heat considerations.

JFK Picks Harriman as Aid in Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today named Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman as chief U.S. negotiator in upcoming talks with the Soviet Union and Great Britain on the nuclear testing stalemate.

Harriman is a former ambassador to Moscow, where the three-power sessions will be held in July.

His appointment as chief negotiator for this country came 24 hours after Kennedy announced a renewed attempt will be made to work out a treaty banning nuclear weapons tests.

To show American good faith, Kennedy announced too, that as long as other countries refrain from atmospheric tests the United States also will do so.

Kennedy presumably discussed the appointment with Harriman on his overnight flight to Washington Monday from Hawaii. Harriman joined the presidential party there after flying in from Australia where he had attended a conference with Australia and New Zealand officials.

Speculation on the identity of the U.S. negotiator had centered immediately on Harriman and John J. McCloy, New York banker and former U.S. high commissioner for Germany, both of whom have had extensive experience in dealing with the Soviets.

The U.S. negotiating team and a companion British group are slated to meet with Soviet representatives in mid-July for another try at ending the long deadlock over a pact to outlaw atomic testing.

Washington authorities attached importance to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's agreement to the meeting after six months of Russian disinterest in test ban talks at the 17-nation general disarmament conference in Geneva.

They tempered this with considerable caution.

It was understood that Khrushchev, in responding late last week to the call by Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan for a meeting, gave no hint that he was going to give ground on his terms that the West has found unacceptable in the past. The Soviets have offered two or three inspections a year to police the test ban, but have refused to spell out what type of inspections. The West has called for seven on-site inspections.

An optimistic theory was that Khrushchev has decided to get down to scientific details on what is needed for an underground test detection system—a matter his Geneva representatives have declined to discuss.

Sparking much interest among U.S. strategists was the relationship between the test ban talks and the July 5 Soviet-Red Chinese meeting in Moscow on their ideological rift.

By the time of the test ban talks, it was noted, Khrushchev should know how he stands in the parley with the Communist Chinese.

Kennedy sought to give added impetus to the forthcoming Moscow discussions by announcing that the United States will not conduct atomic tests above ground as long as no other nation does.

Demonstrations at Pine Bluff

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Robert Whitfield, chairman of the Pine Bluff Movement, said Monday the anti-segregation group is planning new demonstrations against downtown Pine Bluff merchants.

He said too little progress has been made toward desegregation of stores and that the demonstrations were imminent, but did not say when they would begin.

"We ask for things, but we can't get them at the table sitting down so we're going to have to get on our feet and get them," Whitfield said.

He said targets of the demonstrations would be theaters, restaurants, the municipal swimming pool and golf course.

Negotiations have been going on between unidentified white and Negro residents since a moratorium was called in March on the demonstrations. The truce was declared after 49 Negroes were arrested in a series of demonstrations.

have estimated external temperatures of the aircraft skin will range up to 600 degrees Fahrenheit. The cabin and fuel tanks would have to be insulated.

Although there was speculation in Paris that the Pan Am order might stampede other airlines into buying the "Concorde" without waiting for an American model, it found no immediate confirmation here.

No price was mentioned in Pan Am's announcement, although industry estimates were in the range of $8 to $10 million per plane, compared with the $6 million tag on today's jets.

Integration Is on the Increase

NAHSVILLE Tenn. (AP)—Southern School News the monthly publication of the Southern Education Reporting Service said Tuesday the number of Negroes attending public school with white children in 17 Southern and border states and the District of Columbia increased by 9292 last year.

It said the percentage of Negroes in bi-racial schools increased from 7.8 last September to 7.9 at the end of the school year. It said 6 per cent of Negroes were in bi-racial schools in 1960.

The report said 251,797 Negroes shared classrooms with white children in six border states—Delaware Kentucky Maryland Missouri Oklahoma and West Virginia—and the District of Columbia. It said this represented 95.1 per cent of the Negroes enrolled.

The remaining 12,168 Negroes attended bi-racial schools in Arkansas Florida Georgia Louisiana North Carolina Tennessee Texas and Virginia. No public elementary or high schools are desegregated in Alabama Mississippi or South Carolina.

State Alarm Went Smoothly

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Wayne Jefferies, communication officer for the state Civil Defense agency, said the Arkansas portion of a 20-state alert went smoothly Tuesday.

The test was for training personnel in communications.

Shortly before noon two bomb drops were simulated at the Little Rock and Blytheville Air Force bases.

The North American Defense Command in Colorado Springs Colo. alerted the Arkansas Civil Defense agency which dispatched the alarm to all sections of the state through its own facilities.

State Police and county sheriffs.

In 1933, an Industrial Exposition was held at Louisville, Kentucky, and Arkansas won first awards on apples and cotton and received much valuable publicity.

Court to Decide on Division

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to consider a series of reapportionment cases, both legislative and congressional, from the states of New York, Virginia, Maryland, Alabama and Georgia.

Arguments on them will be heard in the court's fall term beginning in October.

The cases involve:

—An attack by radio station WMCA of New York City on constitutionality of apportionment of New York State's legislative districts.

WMCA contended in appealing to the high tribunal that the state had apportioned both houses of its legislature "in intentional disregard of the distribution of population."

—A contention by nine voters of Manhattan Borough in New York City that their constitutional rights were violated in a redrawing of boundaries of the four congressional districts in the borough.

—Efforts by two voters in Atlanta, Georgia's Fulton County, to compel a reapportionment of Georgia congressional districts.

—A review of a Maryland Court of Appeals decision that the Maryland Senate need not be reapportioned.

—A review of a lower court decision that 1962 reapportionment acts of the Virginia Legislature are unconstitutional.

—A review of a temporary plan for reapportionment of the Alabama Legislature ordered by a three-judge federal court in Montgomery.

The three-judge court rejected reapportionment legislation enacted by the Alabama Legislature and ordered the temporary plan into effect for the November 1962 election.

The three-judge court decision, announced July 21, 1962, was the first instance in which a federal tribunal had reapportioned a legislature following the Supreme Court's ruling of March 26, 1962 on the issue. The high tribunal then said the distribution of seats in state legislatures is subject to constitutional scrutiny of the federal courts.

Enrolls at a Negro School

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — While two Negro students were enrolling under court order at the University of Alabama at Tuscaloosa, a white student enrolled at a Negro school here.

The white student, Robert Mickel, 29, a chemistry teacher from Utica, Neb., signed up Tuesday for summer classes at Alabama A&M under a National Science Foundation grant.

Renewal Project at Fort Smith

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — Backers of a proposed urban renewal project at Fort Smith said Tuesday they had enough signatures on petitions to call an election on the plan but said they would try to get more names—just in case.

Dr. E. T. Vines president of Fort Smith Junior College said backers had 6126 signatures on petitions but would try for 8500 names to be sure enough qualified voters are signed up.

Vines said the city has 17000 qualified voters.

The urban renewal proposal was beaten in an election April 2.

Thursday is the deadline for filing petitions to revive the issue.

The Saline was used in a limited way for navigation during steamboat days.

Black Muslims Want to Take Over Nation

EDITOR'S NOTE — What do the Black Muslims want? Are they serious about demanding a portion of the country for their own Negro nation? Associated Press writer Reiman Morin, who won one of his two Pulitzer Prizes for coverage of the 1958 school integration riots at Little Rock, Ark., talked to Black Muslim leader Muhammad Elijah. Here is an insight into the thinking of the leader of the extremist cult.

By REIMAN MORIN

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—"By nature, the black man was created good. By nature, the white man was created evil."

Therefore, he says, the Negro must separate himself completely from the white society in the United States.

Muhammad Elijah is the leader of the Black Muslims. To thousands of Negroes—their number is never stated—he is "The Messenger."

His features are thin and ascetic. The bone-structure of his face is delicate. He has a gentle manner and speaks in soft, measured cadences. Only his large eyes reflect the fire within.

"They glowed with a deeper intensity when he said: 'The situation will get worse. It is due to the merciless treatment accorded our people.'"

He lives simply, in a pretty but unpretentious bungalow in Phoenix. From there, he travels widely, spreading his doctrines—the complete separation, not the integration, of Negroes and whites in the nation.

He does not preach violence. But does he hate the white man? All white men?

"The Messenger" often answers by indirection, and he now says: "The Bible teaches us to love good and to hate evil. I can't love man (the white man) because he is the very essence of evil."

One of his basic doctrines—the autonomous Negro nation—has not been fully understood, he says.

He explains the two alternatives:

"First, let us go back where we came from (Africa). But if we can't be sent back where we came from, why not do this: let the government set up some territory, or a state, for ourselves. Help us to produce the necessities that we are not able to produce for ourselves. Give us 20 or 25 years (to become self-sufficient.)"

"If we don't, it's not the master's (the white man's) fault. Then you can come in with your guns and kill us all."

This Negro nation, he says, is the ultimate goal of the Black Muslims.

He took the first step in Detroit in 1931.

One day, he met a man named Wallace Fard.

He says of Fard: "I recognized him to be God in person and that is what he said he was, but he forbade me to tell anyone else."

"I was a student of the Bible. I recognized him to be the person the Bible predicted would come 2000 years after Jesus' death. It came to me the first time I laid eyes on him."

"He whispered in my ear, 'Yes, I am the one. But who else knows it?' Then he told me to keep quiet."

Controversy Over Land Not Over Yet

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Glenn Zimmerman land controversy may not be over.

City Atty. Reed Thompson said Tuesday he would ask Zimmerman to return the title to four lots to the city for $300,000 the price Zimmerman paid plus whatever Zimmerman has spent on them.

If Zimmerman refuses Thompson said the matter will be taken to court.

A furor erupted in North Little Rock last week when it was learned that a Memphis developer had taken an option to buy the lots from Zimmerman for $50,000.

Three city councilmen contended that the lots were sold to Zimmerman who is executive secretary of the Arkansas Municipal League with the understanding that a league headquarters would be built on the site. The council voted to rescind the sale and offer Zimmerman his money back.

In the wake of the arguments the Memphis developer dropped his option and Zimmerman said he would go ahead with his original plans to build a Municipal League building.

took the master's name as their own family name. Hence, the Muslims call themselves "X."

Muhammad Elijah says the original humans were black. Nothing that there are white, yellow, brown, red and black races on earth today, he says. "You can get red, yellow, brown and white from black, but you can't get black from any of those colors. Black is the No. 1 color."

Therefore, he says, Adam and Eve must have been black. He asks, "How could they be the father and mother of both the black and white man?"

Joining the Black Muslims, however, is not like joining a church, he says.

"This is the case of a man who already belongs to what you are inviting him into but doesn't know it. The teaching is to acquaint him with the fact that he is a member of the nation he has been lost from. He is asked if he would like to take his place again with his own kind."

In 1942, Muhammad Elijah went to jail for refusing to register for the draft. He was asked whether, today, the Black Muslims would fight for the United States in case of war.

"I can only answer for myself," he said. "I can't tell what the other man would do. I have nothing to fight for here."

What about the actions of the federal government in the field of civil rights, the Supreme Court decisions, and the rulings of many federal courts on behalf of the Negroes?

"That's not because of the Negro," he says. "The government hasn't fallen in love with the Negro."

Since their direction is toward separation of the race, the Muslims scorn Negro organizations and individuals who are working in the opposite direction.

The Muslims have been condemned as "black bigots" and segregationists by other Negroes. But it appears that they are rapidly gaining converts.

Make Summertime Entertaining Easy

Warm weather is a delightful time to entertain! At the cool evening breeze blow, serve a leisurely buffet supper on the patio.

Wonderfully simple and simply wonderful for your menu is a Meatball Stroganoff. Tender, well seasoned meatballs are simmered in sauce of canned condensed cream of vegetable soup and sour cream. This luscious mixture is served over cooked noodles. It's a perfect main dish that requires little preparation time. One, too, that will certainly appeal to your guests.

There is no better accompaniment to this tempting treat than a big bowl of tossed salad. Select a variety of greens and accent with wedges of tomato and slices of cucumber.

Buffet Meatball Stroganoff
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed cream of vegetable soup
1 pound ground beef
2 cup fine dry bread crumbs
2 tablespoons minced onion
1 egg
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoon dried dill leaves
1 tablespoon shortening
1 can (3 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained
1 cup sour cream
1/2 cup water
3 cups cooked wide noodles

Add 1/2 cup soup to beef, bread crumbs, onion, egg, salt, and dill. Mix well and shape into 16 meatballs. Brown in shortening; push to side. Add mushrooms; cook a few minutes. Pour off drippings. Stir in remaining soup, sour cream, and water. Cover and cook over low heat for 15 minutes, stirring now and then. Serve over noodles. Makes 4 servings.

Mountaire Poultry Company, Spawned in Colorado, Now a Big Arkansas Industry

The officers, directors and employees of Mountaire Poultry Co., are hopeful that our friends enjoy reading the following facts about our company:

In the Fall of 1959, Ted Cameron bought the interest of Cecil Gigerich and became president of Mountaire Farms which was at that time a Colorado Corporation. On May 1, 1960 the corporation was moved to Arkansas and the Colorado distribution house was split off as a separate corporation with Ted Cameron retaining only a minor interest in the new Colorado Corporation.

The present vice president of Mountaire Farms of Arkansas, W. G. "Pete" McNeice, divorced his interest in the Colorado Corporation devoting full time to his position of plant and sales manager at DeQueen, Ark.

Since May 1, 1960 the Denver operation has been a customer only of the Arkansas corporation.

Mountaire Farms of Arkansas, Inc., the poultry processing plant, is one of six corporations in the joint venture known as Mountaire Poultry Co., which is engaged in breeding, hatching, growing, processing and marketing of Mountaire broilers, turkeys, roasters, and fowl. The officers of Mountaire Farms of Arkansas, Inc., are: Ted Cameron—President, Pete McNeice—Vice President, George Tenney—Secretary-Treasurer and Norman Nichols—Assistant Treasurer. Members of the Board, in addition to the officers, are Neely Cassidy and William D. Brown. Kenneth Penney is assistant plant manager.

The recent sale of the Denver operation in no way affects the operation of Mountaire Poultry Company which has now established a new division of marketing under the direction of Lex Killebrew. Mr. Killebrew will assume his duties on July 1 of this year upon completion of the fiscal year of the Arkansas Poultry Federation for which he has served as executive secretary for the past two years. Sales will continue to be handled at our DeQueen office.

Two more of the six corporations that make up Mountaire Poultry Company are Cassidy's Hatchery, Inc., and Triangle Farms, Inc., of Nashville, Ark., which are under the direction of Neely Cassidy. He is assisted by James Whitmore—nutritionist, Ed McCrary—broiler service manager, Gene Cassidy—hatchery manager and F. D. Gibson who is in charge of turkeys. These men are responsible for the breeding, hatching, and production of some 400,000 broilers each week plus the care of 140,000 breeder hens and 150,000 turkeys.

Arkansas Poultry By-Products, Inc., which is a fourth corporation in Mountaire Poultry Company is under the direction of William D. "Bill" Brown. Bill Brown sees that the feed mills in Mountaire Poultry Company receive the highest quality poultry and feather meal that can be made. Mr. Brown has three other rendering plants, two of which are using water to float the offal from the processing plant to the rendering plant. The water is returned and reused in the floatation process. This method, which is patented, has proven to be the best that is known today.

The remaining two corporations that make up Mountaire Poultry Company are Nashville Feed Mills, Inc., at Nashville and Hope Feed Mills, Inc., at Hope, both of which are owned by Ted Cameron who is also president of Mountaire Poultry Co. Buford Hall is in charge of feed production and plant maintenance at the processing plant. Charles "Doc" Batson and Leonard Riggs are in charge of the Hope and Nashville Mills respectively.

From the very beginning Mountaire Poultry Co., has placed heavy emphasis on detailed cost accounting data. This phase is under the supervision of Norman Nichols, controller and accountant—G. V. Ritchie, Loyce Tapp and John Cox.

Mountaire Poultry Co., and Western Meat Packers, Inc., have equal interests in Mountaire-Western Co., a partnership engaged in the production of heat-type hogs. Currently, the company is producing 100 to 140 market hogs weekly and is under the direction of M. C. Smith of Hope, Ark.

The latest move made by Mountaire Poultry Co. was their entry into the primary breeder field in order to provide more uniformity in the final product. Last July Mountaire Poultry Co., acquired one-third interest in J. N. Thompson Associates, Inc., producers of the Thompson White Rock Female. Officers are J. N. Thompson, President; Ted Cameron, Vice President; and Joe Ray, Secretary-Treasurer. Robert Waggoner, who was until recently with Dr. Salisbury's Laboratories, is manager.

It is our pledge to continue serving our customers with prime quality Mountaire Poultry and poultry products.

Mills Credited With Tax Reforms

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—The attorney for the House Ways and Means Committee said Tuesday that Rep. Wilbur D. Mills D-Ark. can be credited with the tax reform proposals which are now under consideration.

Leo H. Irwin attorney for the committee which Mills heads said the representative prevented a quick general tax cut earlier this year and thereby opened the door to tax reform.

Irwin spoke to the 196th annual Southern Conference of Certified Public Accountants.

Claude Hamrick Jr. of Atlanta was named president elect of the accountants group. Gayle L. Daffers of New Orleans was elected vice president and Thomas W. Lealand of College Station Tex. was elected secretary-treasurer.

Airliner Missing

RANGOON, Burma, (AP)—Burma Airways airliner, missing since Monday with 21 persons aboard, is believed to have crashed in Communist China, an airline official said Tuesday.

A message from Communist Chinese authorities said an unidentified plane crossed the China-Burma border Monday evening and communication with it stopped abruptly. The official said.

Business Package Insurance Out

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Insurance companies in Arkansas can no longer offer a business package policy state Insurance Commissioner Harvey G. Combs decided Tuesday.

Combs had ruled earlier that companies could offer a comprehensive policy covering fire, various hazards and liability on company-owned vehicles. These were previously covered in separate policies.

In his Tuesday decision Combs said the earlier approval had been made without thorough study and analysis.

The policies could be said through changes in insurance methods result in insolvent companies and agencies legalize rebating of premiums not now permitted and deprive the Insurance Department of its control over insurance with resulting discrimination among like risks.

He noted that a single policy ran 80 pages single-spaced with both

Business Old Hand at the Numbers

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service and the banks and the phone company are just Johnnies-coming-lately to the numbers game. Businessmen have been playing it for more than a century. And many still favor a number when choosing a name for a new product.

The numbers game has worked fine for many of them. The digits have become household words. Customers have had little trouble remembering the numbers—every woman knows what you mean when you say Chanel No. 5. And sides of the page carrying printing.

Combs said this was "too much in one policy for almost anyone to understand."

some companies hold onto the number titles long after diversifying or expanding product lines—Heinz 57 Varieties once was an accurate tally but now the company makes some 300 products, without changing its slogan.

Generations grew up quite at home with 20-Mule Team Balm, just as any youngster today can tell a Boeing 707 from a DC1.

But many depositors still aren't reconciled to losing their names and becoming numbers at the bank. The IRS fast is herding all income tax payers into the same faceless category as it caters to the electronic computer. And the AT&T stoutly ignores all protests against its dropping exchange names for lengthy strings of digits that stand for paying customers.

The origin of some of the numbers that business has made brand names goes far back in history as well as far from the market place.

For example, we are told that in the 1820s a Mr. Brand was chef to Britain's King George IV. One day the gourmet monarch tasted a new sauce and said, "Brand, this is A-1." That was before the vogue for A-Okay. So when the chef set up a business for himself he called his concoction, "Brand's A-1 Steak Sauce," as it's still known.

When Napoleon occupied Cologne, his soldiers numbered houses as a billeting guide. The house of a Mulhens family drew 4711, and later the Mulhens developed a product they named 4711 eau de Cologne.

Just 100 years ago, the story goes a band of Scotsmen gathered at the Sanderson distillery in Leith to choose between 100 containers of different Scotch formulas. After sampling the contents of each and every barrel those on their feet chose Vat 69. And the name still sticks.

Other beverages favor numbers—all the way from 7-Up and V-8 vegetable juice to 7-Crown whisky and 5-Star Hennessy.

A few of the many other brand names based on numbers are Three-in-One oil, 5-Day Deodorant, 6-12 insect repellent, Eternal 21, and 2500 Design, which is office furniture made by All-Steel

Boone Approves Hospital Bonds

HARRISON, Ark. (AP)—A $225,000 bond issue to finance a 30-bed addition to the Boone County Hospital was approved by voters $20-136 Tuesday.

A five-mill tax to pay off the bonds was approved $15-155. An additional $225,000 will be provided by the federal government.

Guard Training

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The 30 officers and 130 airmen of the 189th Tactical Reconnaissance Group of the Arkansas Air National Guard will conduct a training operation June 22-23 that will take them to Otis Air Force Base, Cape Cod, Mass. The operation is to test the guard's readiness and provide mobility experience.

Equipment of Aurora, Ill.

And then there was a Faith 7—not a brand name but a capsule that Americans followed anxiously on its recent 22 orbits of the earth.

Wants Race Law on School Bills

WASHINGTON (AP)—More than a score of House members introduced a bill Tuesday, aimed at placing anti-segregation amendments on most existing federal education law.

The congressmen's aim is to cut off funds for any programs operated on a non-segregated basis and to halt piecemeal efforts to add non-discrimination clauses to each new education bill offered.

House members invariably object to efforts to add such amendments to proposed legislation on the grounds that the amendments would kill the bill.

The existing laws that would be affected by the bill are the National Defense Education Act, Vocational Education Library Services Act, Land Grant College Act, and Public Laws 815 and 874 authorizing funds for school districts which are overcrowded by federal installations.

The House Rules Committee will consider the bill first.

One of Summer's Scenic Wonders: A Frosty Glass of Iced Coffee

Is it a miracle or a mirage? Actually, it's the trick of the camera that has posed the most flitting road-block in the world—a delicious glassful of frosty iced coffee.

Since iced coffee rarely appears so miraculously, here are two ways of preparing it almost instantly. One method uses instant coffee powder and the other, regular coffee with coffee ice cubes.

For the instant method, place in a tall glass about twice as much instant coffee as you would use for a cup. Add a little cold water and stir until the coffee powder dissolves. Then, fill up the glass with ice cubes, add more cold water and stir.

Coffee Ice An Ice Cube A glass of iced coffee can be made almost as quickly using regular coffee and coffee ice cubes. The ice cubes, of course, must be prepared ahead. Simply make a little extra breakfast coffee, then cool it and pour it in your freezer ice tray. Turn the controls up high for quick freezing. At serving time, brew regular-strength coffee and pour it over the coffee cubes. As the ice melts, it adds flavor rather than weakening the coffee.

There are two other important pointers for really good iced coffee. If you use cream, buy the richest cream you can find. It's especially important in iced coffee. For a sweeter, try a simple sugar syrup which goes into solution quickly and evenly. To make the syrup, stir and boil together, for seven minutes, equal quantities of sugar and water. Cool and store in the refrigerator. It keeps indefinitely between summer coffee breaks.

Pop what would you do if I got all A's on my report card?

I'm Dr. Casey and I'll leave the burro problem to you and Mr. Bailey!

See you later, fellas. Better luck next time, Jim. Maybe a goldfish instead!

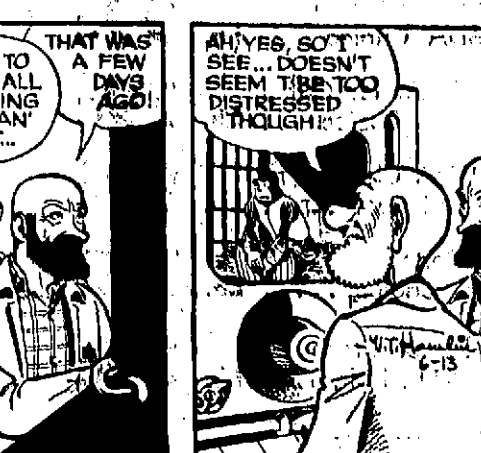

Sam, this is my wealthy uncle Julius' boy, from South Africa. He had the misfortune to be held up and stripped to the hide-har-rumph! Just charge his needs to my account until next week, when he'll get a few thousand by wire from Capetown!

What no catsup?

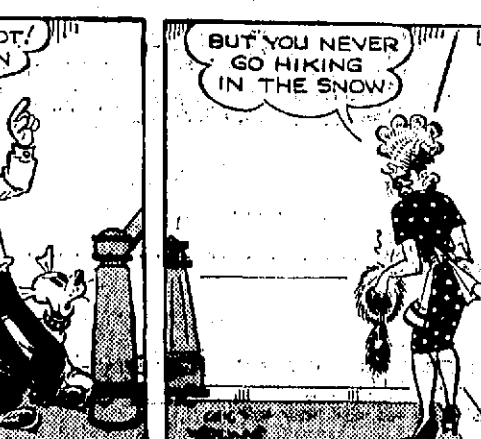

You think he could see a doctor?

How long do you fellows figure I'll be in this cage?

I'll see you after I contact certain mining offices here.

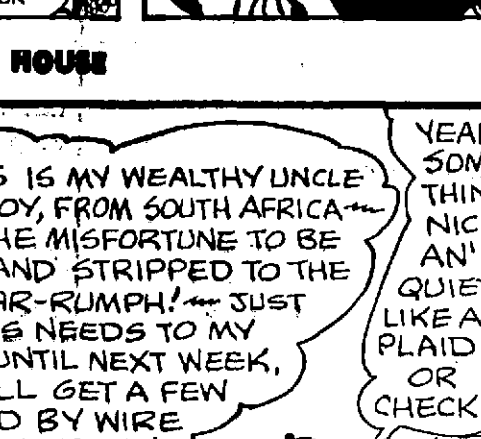

I should say not! I wear it when I go hiking in the snow!

But you never go hiking in the snow!
